

Jason's Notes: August 23, 2010

This coming Sunday, August 29, is the fifth anniversary of Hurricane Katrina and the man-made engineering disaster that flooded the city of New Orleans. Next Monday, the day after that anniversary, my guest will be Andrew Lamb, whose album New Orleans Suite (Engine, 2006) was recorded two weeks after Katrina and has just been remastered and re-released. In the meantime, you can listen to my interviews with several New Orleans musicians, including Terence Blanchard, Jeff Albert, Jason and Ellis Marsalis, the Dirty Dozen Brass Band and others. You'll find all my New Orleans interviews here:

<http://thejazzsession.com/category/new-orleans/>

Of course, at the same time as Gulf residents are dealing with the aftermath of Katrina, they're facing another crisis – the BP oil disaster. Two of my poems were featured this week at Poets For Living Waters, a poetic response to the crisis. You'll find my poems here:

<http://poetsgulfoast.wordpress.com/2010/08/18/two-poems-by-jason-crane/>

It was pointed out to me earlier this week that I need to mention my book more often. As many of you know, I published my first book of poetry earlier this year. It's called Unexpected Sunlight

(FootHills Publishing, 2010) and you'll find it here:

<http://jasoncrane.org/store>

This week on the show: Jimmy Amadie (TJS #193, Monday) and Shane Endsley of Kneebody (TJS #194, Thursday).

Next week: Andrew Lamb (TJS #195, Monday) and John Escreet (TJS #196, Thursday).

Peace, love and jazz,

Jason

This week on The Jazz Session:

THE JIMMY AMADIE TRIO

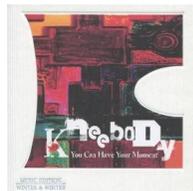

Kindred Spirits

with Special Guests
LEE KONITZ, JOE LOVANO and LEW TABACKIN

TJS #193: Jimmy Amadie. Pianist Jimmy Amadie has recorded seven albums, despite being able to play for just a couple hours every few months as a result of severe problems with his hands. On his most recent record, Kindred Spirits (TP Recordings, 2010), Amadie is joined by Lee Konitz, Joe Lovano and Lew Tabackin, among others. In this interview, Amadie talks about the long road back to playing; his subsequent battle with cancer; and his desire to have his music judged against the master musicians of the genre. SHOW AVAILABLE NOW. LISTEN

TJS #194: Shane Endsley of Kneebody. For more than a decade, Kneebody has been making music that's hard to classify and harder to resist. Their new album is You Can Have Your Moment (Winter & Winter, 2010). In this interview, trumpeter Shane Endsley talks about the band's different approach to recording the new album; the complex series of musical cues the band uses to arrange music live on stage; and how the combination of Theo Bleckmann and Charles Ives led to a recording relationship with the Winter & Winter label. SHOW AVAILABLE STARTING 8/26/10.

Follow Jason Crane & The Jazz Session:

Facebook:

<http://www.facebook.com/group.php?gid=35546419362>

Twitter:

<http://twitter.com/jasoncrane>

RSS feed:

http://thejazzsession.com/feed/?category_name=podcast

Poetry:

<http://jasoncrane.org/>