

The jazz. session

with Jason Crane

Jason's Notes: Nov. 7, 2011

Hello friends!

The Jazz Session is member-supported, so if you like what you hear, please join. Memberships start as low as $10/month or $110/year. SPECIAL MEMBERSHIP OFFER: The next two people who join at the middle or top level (yearly or monthly) will receive guitarist Anthony Wilson's new DVD/CD set Seasons. This set captures a unique live performance by Wilson along with Steve Cardenas, Julian Lage and Chico Pinheiro, performing on a quartet of custom guitars built by John Monteleone. It's an incredible performance that can be yours via <http://thejazzsession.com/join>

I've written more new poems:
"Tohoku" <http://bit.ly/tFuxVC>
"passing notes" <http://bit.ly/soB605>
...and you can still hear the audio recording of my recent reading near Albany, NY:

I use Twitter to send out show and interview updates, live notes from concerts and more. If you'd like to follow me on Twitter, visit <http://twitter.com/jasondcrane>.

Next week on the show: Joan Stiles (Monday, 11/14) and Andrea Wolper (Thursday, 11/17).

Peace, love and jazz,

Jason

This week on The Jazz Session:

TJS #322: Matt Mitchell. Pianist Matt Mitchell has been making a name for himself in the bands of Tim Berne, John Hollenbeck and Darius Jones, among others. In this interview, Mitchell talks about finding his place in the bands of composers with strong visions; how a set of self-penned practice pieces became duet performance vehicles; and why he may finally be ready to record his first album. SHOW AVAILABLE NOW.

TJS #323: Tim Hagans. Trumpeter Tim Hagans' new CD is The Moon Is Waiting. In this interview, Hagans talks about his special relationship with his drummer of choice; how he worked with a choreographer to write some of the music on the new album; and how he's evolved over the years as a composer for large and small ensembles. SHOW AVAILABLE 11/10/11.
